Weekly Devotion from Pastor David

How do you relate to the person in today's Gospel (Mark 10: 17-31)? Is the person familiar to you at all? Are there things that are similar to your experience? How does it seem looking out into the world? What is the struggle that the person's situation brings to light? How do you hear Jesus' words to them? How do they sound to you? What will you do to follow? What will you have to do, or give up to do so?

Following Jesus, serving His Kingdom, often means letting go of many things we used to cherish and hold close. It is a reordering of the way we often look at the world (the last is first and the first is last). Following Jesus is fundamentally trusting that he has done it. It isn't about our goodness and righteousness, or what we have, or our titles, or anything. It is about him. Thank god! Reread vs. 27 to remember what grace brings!

Please consider reaching out to Colleen McDonald at omchodoy@outlook.com and trying us out! We could use your help!
